

FORD'S NAME TO GO ON PRESIDENTIAL BALLOT IN NEBRASKA

Temporary National Chairman of State's New Party Makes Announcement

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 22.—By The Associated Press.—A Ford-for-president ticket will be placed on the ballot in Nebraska at the April primaries, according to an announcement made at a small gathering of progressives, farmer-laborers and independents in the office of Roy M. Harop, national temporary chairman of the progressive party here.

This announcement followed on Tuesday night that this group of new party men, led by Mr. Harop had given over to the Ford-for-president banner and would be represented at the Ford conference on December 12 in Detroit. The meeting, Tuesday night, was held at the American Economic League session of which Harop is the head. Mr. Harop stated Wednesday that 14 men were present at Tuesday night's meeting, each representing a different state in the union.

Mr. Ford's name is already on the ballot in Nebraska by petition, and this petition has 2,000 signatures to it, Mr. Harop said.

"We will place a complete ticket in the field, with candidates, including United States senator and all state offices from governor down, in the April primaries."

SUPERVISORS CAN'T BE APPOINTED TO A COUNTY OFFICE

MADISON, Wis.—A member of a county board is not eligible to appointment by the board to fill a vacancy in the office of county clerk, the attorney general's department held in an opinion to C. L. Broadfoot, district attorney at Menomonie. The opinion stated that in membership on the county board disqualifies a person from being a candidate for appointment to a county office.

LEGION LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM IS SENT TO PRES. COOLIDGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—At the request of the American Legion, officials of the White House have sent to the president a comprehensive statement outlining the organization's legislative program for the coming session of congress.

The statement embodies these legislative proposals endorsed by the legion at its last national convention: A bonus bill, a measure for an automatic universal conscription of man power and industry in time of war, an authorization for retirement pay for emergency army officers, centralization of all veterans' legislation in a single committee in both senate and house, and numerous amendments of the present law governing the administration of veterans affairs generally.

BIGGER CROPS OF CEREALS SEEN IN END OF BARBERRY

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Eradication of the barberry bush promises an increase in cereal crops, Dean M. Freeman of the college of agriculture of the University of Minnesota declared in an address at the third annual conference for the prevention of grain rust here.

Dr. Carleton R. Ball of the United States department of agriculture, said that "although more than 5,000,000 common barberry bushes have been destroyed in thirteen states in six years, there are enough overlooked bushes spreading in Minnesota and North Dakota to account for the heavy losses in the spring wheat area this year."

Fifty delegates from thirteen north central states are attending the conference.

FARMER-LABORITES STILL IN DOUBT ON COURSE OF PARTY

Minnesota State Chairman Says they May Not Join New Progressives

ST. PAUL, Minn.—The farmer-labor party in Minnesota may not join the new progressive party called into national convention at St. Paul, May 30, 1924, it was indicated in a formal statement issued by F. A. Pike, chairman of the state central committee of the farmer-labor party.

Mr. Pike referred to the recent third party conference in Chicago. "The proceedings at Chicago," said Mr. Pike's statement, "show the impatience with which some progressive workers are looking for a new national party."

"The farmer-labor party in this state has not yet determined its course in the matter. That undoubtedly will be one of the subjects to be considered at a state conference of the party which the district and county chairmen have instructed me to call. 'What has been done so far has been done upon individual initiative and responsibility.'"

Mr. Pike declined to amplify his statement or to say what would be the date of the state conference, other than it will be soon after January 1.

SPURGEON'S

DUCKS PLENTIFUL ON GREEN BAY; IN OPEN WATER

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Sportsmen in the Green Bay section report that ducks are present on the Green Bay in greater numbers this season than ever before. Flocks of birds, estimated to number thousands can be seen on the bay out of reach of guns, it is said. One reason for the apparent increase of the fowl during recent years according to hunters, is the abolishment of open water hunting which in former years depleted the fowl by the thousands. Hunters, before the open water regulation went into effect, employed a special boat for open water hunting. The ducks, wild as they are seem to have become educated to the dangers of lurking hunters near the shore and avoid the land in the daytime, while at night they are said to come to the shore to feed on the wild rice and other available articles.

EAU CLAIRE ASYLUM INMATE ESCAPES; DIES IN STILLWATER

STILLWATER, Minn.—A man believed to be Archibald Dean, about 50 or 55 years old, was found dead in a road near here Wednesday. It is thought that he escaped from an asylum at Eau Claire, Wis., and procured money from his sister there and disappeared. The coroner is investigating.

FARM ASSOCIATION STOCKHOLDERS CAN'T VOTE COUNTY FUNDS

MADISON, Wis.—Members of county boards who are stockholders in county agricultural associations are disqualified from voting for an appropriation to such association, U. F. Arps, district attorney at Chilton, was advised by the attorney general's department. The opinion, written by Franklin E. Buop, assistant, held that the interest in such an association is legal disqualification from voting on the proposed appropriation.

Physician Explains Who Should Take Nuxated Iron

Practical Advice on How To Help Build Up Great Strength, Energy and Endurance

"Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that vital force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life," says Dr. Emile Sauer, well known English physician.

"It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physicians making blood examinations of their weak, anemic, run-down patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from physical weakness and a highly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles without ever realizing the real cause of their trouble. Without iron in your blood your food merely passes through the body something like corn through an old mill with rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind."

"For want of iron you may be an old man at thirty, dull of intellect, poor in memory, nervous, irritable and all factious if it does not produce satisfactory results."

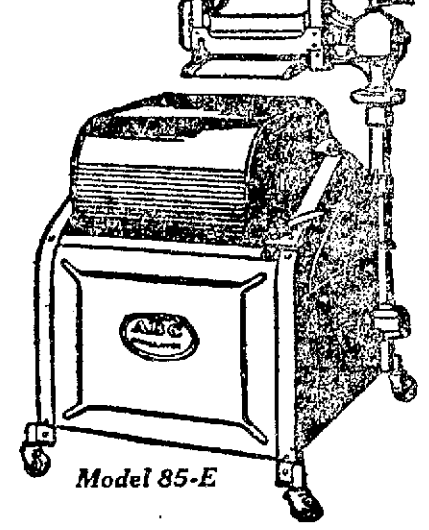

Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It quickly helps make rich red blood, revitalizes worn-out exhausted nerves and gives increased strength and energy. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if it does not produce satisfactory results.

Why Dissemble?

PATCHING up the entente by compromise and shading of a word in a note enables the papers to say and the governments to aver that there is unity among the allies. But it does not bring unity, nor does it give the resultant agreement the force and effect of united support. Nobody is fooled. The British know, as the French know, that Britain backed down merely to save her face. She has not approached an inch nearer acceptance of the French point of view in regard to Germany; she is still hoping and hunting for a solution which will overturn French policy. If she dared, in the face of French military strength, she would defy France tomorrow and impose her own idea, just as France is now imposing hers.

The Germans know this quite well, as does every other intelligent country. That the allies have reached the shadow of an agreement will not impress them with the futility of trying maneuvers to separate the French and British and profit by the breach. The split is too glaring, and putting up the cracks couldn't fool a child. One wonders if the situation might not be a good deal healthier, and final settlement brought somewhat nearer, if the rupture of the entente were frankly admitted and the consequences faced. At least it would relieve the diplomats of the necessity of contriving sham agreements which deceive no one and yet have a certain wrong-headed force.

Probably an open admission of disagreement would not immediately change things. France is too strong and too headstrong in her strength to surrender her present policy until its failure is undeniably apparent to the voters who keep French statesmen in office. The British could not force a change of French policy; but they have just as little influence in the entente as out of it. And they are steadily losing their prestige by trailing along as the tail of the French kite. The world would be better off, possibly, when the break finally comes and the ruinous results of Poincare's intransigence are definitely seen, if Britain has no entanglements in the ruin to hamper her traditional genius for picking up the pieces and muddling out a possible solution.

Relief!

A LARGE part of this nation has been panicked by the statement freely made since the war that army intelligence tests showed the average mentality of Americans to be that of a fourteen-year-old child. Books have been written on the subject, mainly devoted to pessimistic predictions, and occasionally proposing wild solutions of the problem of what is to become of us and what can be done about it. Meantime some of us who, looking over our friends and acquaintances, have been figuring that the type child of fourteen years which struck the American average must be a mighty strong-minded and intellectual youngster for his years, have been more or less in the silences. The evidence that our eyes and ears deceived us has seemed so strong that we have not often dared to declare the faith that was in us.

Therefore we hail with pleasure and relief a statement from Dr. Frank Nugent Freeman, noted psychologist of the University of Chicago, that the fourteen-year-old average intelligence fetish is largely the bunk. Writing in the December Century, Dr. Freeman says:

"What the army tests show concerning the intellectual capacity of typical Americans is that forty-five per cent of us are duller than the other fifty-five per cent. That is all. Taken by themselves, the tests do not indicate whether the latter grade D or the grade C represent dullness or mediocrity, except in relation to the persons who receive higher or lower grades. They indicate merely the degree of brightness which is defined as the degree possessed by a given percentage of the population. They do not further define what this degree of brightness is."

This, be it noted, is not alone the conclusion of Dr. Freeman. He conducted a questionnaire among several of the country's leading psychologists before reaching his conclusions, and they substantially agree with him that the army tests were special examinations designed for a single and definitely limited purpose—selection of men with certain desirable qualities for officers—and that they throw only partial light on the average all-around mentality of our citizens. This substantiates what a good many of us have always more or less hazily believed, without much actual evidence. Now we can talk back to the gloom-spreaders, thank goodness.

Coarse Work

"DOC" COOK, so dispatches report, hadn't a word to say when the court handed him a fourteen year term in prison and a $12,000 fine, as the cracker on as bitter a lashing as any judge in the United States ever turned loose. There wasn't much the "Doc" could say, of course, but he might have pleaded ignorance—or something. Perhaps bad luck, and congenital lack of responsibility. That's "Doc" Cook's chief trouble. He has always wanted something for nothing, and tried to horn in on the other fellow's game without knowing or caring about the rules. The first time he did it, in Copenhagen when he claimed to have discovered the North Pole, the only punishment was the public ridicule which followed. But this time his effort in a strange field transversed the criminal law, as well as the law of decency. One can imagine that, even if unconsciously on the part of the judge, some portion of the stiff sentence under which "Doc" is laboring today is retribution for that shameless effort to thieve a better man's laurels which was perpetrated in Copenhagen. "Doc" Cook's work has always been coarse. It is a relief to see his foot tripped, at last.

HERE'S the kind of competition our manufacturers are meeting abroad: An American-made safety razor is sold in Denmark at a retail price of 25 kroner apiece. In competition with it is a similar German-made safety razor, retailing at a trifle under five kroner, and the wholesale price is only 90 kroner a hundred.

Price isn't everything, for our Danish commercial attache—Sorenson—writes that American makes are well in the lead.

Odd

THERE'S an old expression, "weeping her eyes out." All such expressions must have had an origin in fact. The other day a young woman who had been deserted by her husband was led into court in New York. Long periods of weeping had almost totally blinded her. Too bad some one didn't convince her no man was worth it.

Tom Sims Says:

There's the plumber. Buy the plumber a Christmas present. What about a million memorandum books?

Don't forget the milk man. He likes Christmas presents. We suggest a big bucket for watering milk.

Somebody hit the ex-kaiser's wife with a rock. Cops are puzzled. Maybe she talks about the neighbors.

Paddle your own canoe and it goes further. Paddling your own kids will have the same effect.

Some men are so inconsiderate. In Chicago, a woman shot her husband for getting the floor dirty.

News from Mexico. They want warm baths. The Mexicans are used to being kept in hot water.

Time cures everything, but it often takes a lot of it.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

The roof of the residence and saloon of H. G. Miller, Mormon Coulee Road, was blown off yesterday morning by the wind which attained a velocity of twenty-five miles an hour. Damages to the farm houses throughout the county have been reported but little to city property.

The board of public works will probably accept the completed work of the contractors who have built the city's new water system within the next few weeks and will present the artesian water to the citizens as a Christmas gift. The five million gallon reservoir on Granddall will be finished in a few days. The spot on the bluff hidden by the first turn of the road, which the past few months has been a small village of busy workmen, is now almost deserted.

Negotiations for the purchase of a two story building between Second and Third on Pearl are being made by D. C. Dewey, following action of the board of directors, giving their consent to the plan.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

John McKenzie and his son of North La Crosse have returned from northern Wisconsin where they were hunting. They succeeded in getting three deer.

A new telephone company, has been organized by the business men of Houston county. The line will operate between Houston and a station near Mound Prairie.

J. W. Reed has sold his farm in Monroe county to C. Knudson and will move with his family to Portland, Ore. He formerly lived in West Salem.

Edward Wheeler, Rose street confectioner, returned from northern Wisconsin with a large deer yesterday. The Crown Paper Co. which will conduct a wholesale house in this city has filed incorporation papers. The capital stock is $10,000 and the incorporators are William Cheever, Homer Cheever and Wm. T. Marks.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

While W. W. Hovey and A. Hollish of the McMahon Transfer line were removing some baggage from the burned Merchants' Hotel they discovered a quantity of money and some jewelry.

These officers were elected yesterday at the meeting of the Manufacturers' and Jobbers' Union: President, A. Hirschelmer; vice president, J. S. Medary; secretary, R. Calvert; treasurer, B. L. Strouse.

A Queer Bargain

By DUFORD JENNE

Mary explained the situation to him carefully, but she was disturbed by the faint, amused smile in his eyes as he reclined lazily in the big chair near his library fire. Moreover, she did not just like the frank way in which he studied her and his evident approval of her dark eyes and dark hair.

"It is purely a business matter, Mr. Leighton. Your father supported the Child's Welfare Association generously," she said earnestly. "And it looks as if we would have to close the work unless we can raise $10,000."

"But I haven't the slightest interest in those slum kids, Miss Lee," he answered carelessly. "She felt like grabbing him by the velvet collar of his lounging jacket and giving him a good shake. She was in love with her own kind, and she knew what good was being done, and here this rich young fellow sat, lazily amused, carelessly indifferent."

"But really the situation is desperate. Can't we count on you with some hope for assistance?" she demanded. His long shadowed face, which she had seen in the past, looked at her with new interest. "Desperate situations require unusual methods. If you will do something for me, I will, for you, do something for me."

"You are about my sister's height, she is upstairs, and will dress you up, he answered. Then, as she hesitated, he added, "That is all there is to the bargain."

"She thought of the much-needed $10,000 and reached her decision quickly. 'I'll go.'"

Fifteen minutes later, she surveyed herself in front of the long mirror while her sister looked on smiling. Mary had put aside pleasure in the joy of her self-sacrificing work, but she had seen, wondrously, how she had been herself, to be beautifully dressed again for a playmate affair.

"I must tell you what this is all about. Dick has been most coldly and flatly turned down by one of the girls, and he's planning to give her a shock by you, for you are positively beautiful, and in the right way, too," Miss Leighton said, with a gleam in her eye.

"I don't just like the idea," Mary said. "But I do want that money even if I have to get it by my crazy scheme. As she descended the stairs, she was waiting, and she thrilled with inner mischief as she saw his start of admiration when she came into the room, and the snarl of his car beside him, and they sped away through the twilight."

She enjoyed the next three hours hugely. He introduced her as a friend, visiting him home for a short time, and the little plot worked favorably. Mary was tickled to find the girl who had rejected him, and she showed her annoyance at the turn of affairs. Entering into the spirit of the game, Mary played her part with skill, and she determined to enjoy it as much as possible.

Now and then she caught Leighton's eyes upon her, and the look in their gray, pleasant depths puzzled her. Then, after a dance that left her warm and happy, he led her aside, and said severely: "Now look here, Mary Lee. I believe I have brought you to this dance, and I am about to give you a shock with me a few times instead of these other chaps."

"Is that in the bargain?" she asked, mischievous in her heart. He smiled. "No, but I'll put it there. I'll give you two thousand more, and I'll dance these last dances with me."

She could not guess just then what his presence was to mean to her, but she had found somebody else. But she knew that money would help her, and she danced with him, inwardly amazed at his calm air of possession of her, and that in his attitude aroused among his male friends.

But the curtain drops at last. On the way back, her evening a pleasant memory behind her, she turned to him and said with sudden earnestness: "Mary, I wish I could see more of you."

Some instinct warned her of danger, and she realized with a sudden start, that the parting of the ways had begun to appeal to her.

"Is that in the bargain?" she asked quickly. His shoulder stiffened beside hers, for a moment she was sorry, but only for a moment. She remembered that she had not given freely of his wealth to the need that he knew existed.

When his home was reached she found that a little lunch in the warm, softly-lighted library was awaiting them. The half hour there gave her a strange sense of having known him a long time, and she almost felt that beneath the veneer of his careless, lazy manner was the strength that must be in the man she was to love. But she dismissed her thoughts as idle dreaming.

"Now I must go," she said quietly. "I will drive you down when you are ready," he answered. "Here is the check for $10,000, and here is a letter that has just been written before you came." He handed her an addressed envelope, a faint smile, bantering and amused, in his eyes.

As she changed to her simple dress upstairs, her curiosity got the better of her, and she opened the letter. It told her that her letter sent some time before, asking for aid, had been received, and that in his father's name he would endorse a check for $10,000, and that he could be counted upon to help.

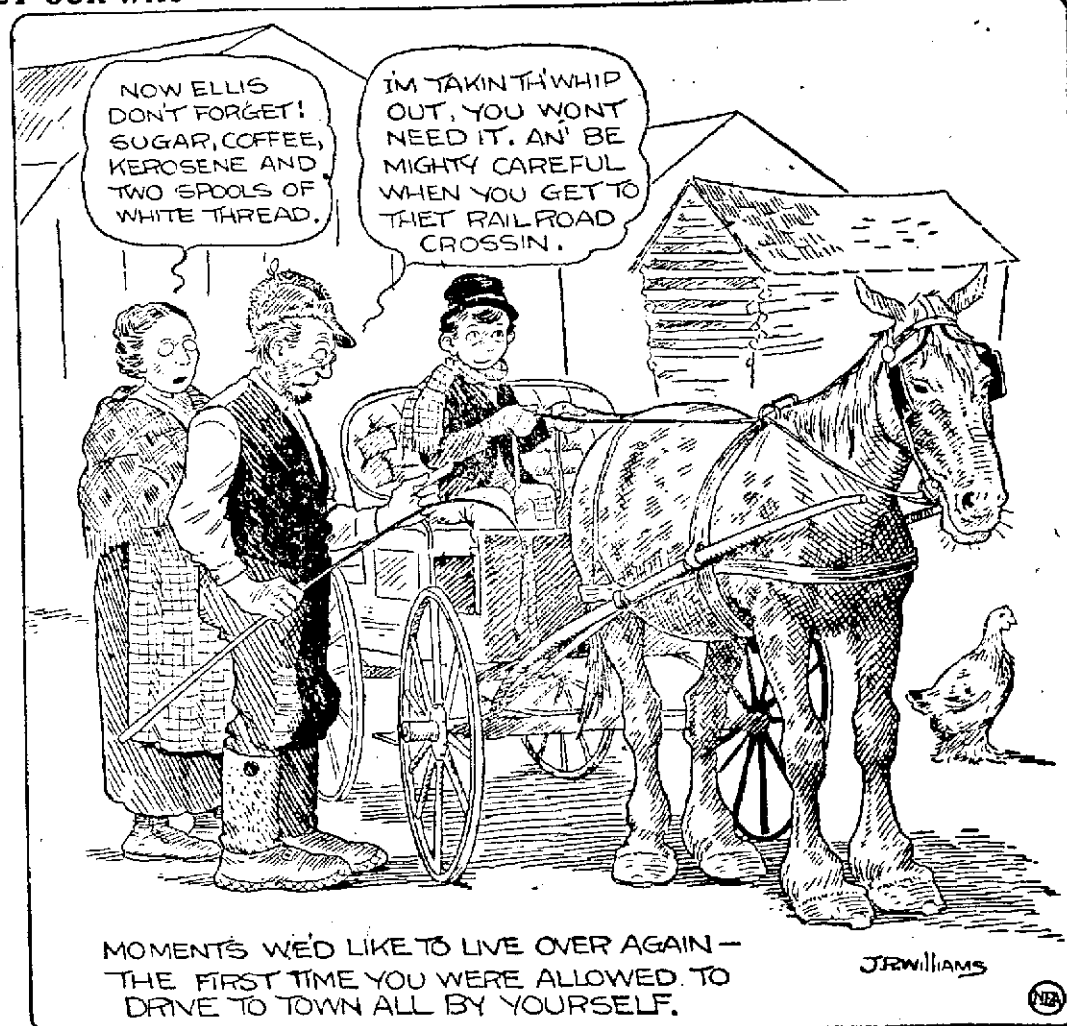

She had no time to think of the check for $10,000, and here is a letter that has just been written before you came."

She had no time to think of the check for $10,000, and here is a letter that has just been written before you came."

She had no time to think of the check for $10,000, and here is a letter that has just been written before you came."

OUT OUR WAY

Mary sank down into a chair. He had written that letter before she came. Suddenly, she knew that in spite of his calm demeanor he was in trouble at heart, and she knew more—knew him as he actually was.

Beside him in the big car she was carried to the dismal old building in the slums where the charity work was housed.

"So here is where you live and work," he said, a new note in his voice.

"And here the bargain ends," she warned him, but tightened her grasp upon the previous letter.

He caught her hand, and she thrilled with the sudden power in his voice. "No, Mary. Let's make another, give me a place in your life and work. Will you—will you?"

She wavered; she tried to shake her head, but she could not. She did not want him to go out of her life, now that she knew him as he was.

Miss L. Shields Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"My trouble began by little red spots appearing under the skin and then broke out with pimples. The pimples were large and red, and later festered. My face was almost covered with them, and they itched and burned causing me to scratch. At night I could not sleep well. The trouble lasted about a year.

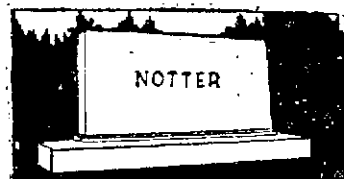

I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they afforded relief in a few days. I continued using them and was completely healed after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Miss Lillie Shields, Star Rt., Buena Vista, Ohio.

Daily use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum helps to prevent skin troubles.

TRANSATLANTIC BROADCASTING TO BE HEARD HERE

A seven day program of transatlantic broadcasting will begin Sunday night, November 25th, at ten o'clock, eastern standard time, when eight radiophone stations in the British Isles will radiate special programs until 10:30 p. m. for the radio audience in this country. Following this, stations in the United States and England will alternate until December first, when they will speak to each other in two-way communication at five-minute intervals. Henry Ford will speak Sunday night from his station WJZ at Dearborn, Michigan, operating on the 360 meter wave length.

Arrangements are under way in England to have the Prince of Wales, Premier Baldwin and Marconi speak to American listeners. Most American stations will be off the air while the English transmitters are in action. Station WJZ, N. Y., and WGY, Schenectady, N. Y., will be connected by long distance wires, so the same program will be broadcast simultaneously from both cities. Eight stations in England will be joined by hand lines, so one microphone located in London will control all stations. When a voice actuates the microphone in London, it will be sent into the air simultaneously from eight different stations operating on wave lengths ranging from 365 to 415 meters.

In order to meet a request from England so these broadcasting will know immediately if they are heard in America, arrangements have been made with the Postal Telegraph company to relay paid messages containing the names of all stations throughout the United States intercepting the British program. Messages should be addressed to Radio Broadcast Magazine, New York.

Further announcements of the programs of the stations, British and American, will be made through the newspaper and broadcasting stations.

Voting these appropriations will take the state out of the financial tangle resulting from the failure of the legislature to appropriate money to the educational institutions. It will also mean that there will be no special session of the legislature.

How to Sew a Collar and Facing to a Garment

Collars like these are very smart just now for tailored blouses and one-piece dresses. They look a bit complicated, but are really easy enough to make if one works carefully.

The dress is slit down the front for the opening. The collar is cut of double material, one to be used for facing.

Sew the collar to the neck edge with the notches matching. Clip the seam edges at the shoulder and press the seam open from the center front to the shoulder.

Sew the facings together—collar facing to front facing, notches matching. Press the seam open.

Then baste the facings to the garment—collar and front facings to collar and front opening—right sides together and stitch. Close seam at lower part of facing below opening.

Before turning the collar right side out, trim the edges close to the stitching line. Then turn. Baste all around opening and collar close to the edge.

Turn under raw edges of front facing and stitch. Slip stitch the upper edge of the facing to the shoulder and slip stitch the back of the collar to cover the seam.

Some Rambles With Artists of Wisconsin

John Audubon—there is a name to conjure with. Nearly every city has an Audubon society. Audubon—a word familiar to every kindergarten youngster.

But who has heard of Bruno Eriz, one of Manitowish, now of Milwaukee? The art critic? Yes. The general public? No. Now there is a regrettable thing.

For Bruno Eriz, once of Manitowish, now of Milwaukee, has been praised by knowing men the world around as the greatest painter of birds, butterflies and insects yet produced in America—far greater than the majority, and his brothers, greater, even than John James Audubon.

Bruno Eriz has never painted anything but birds, butterflies and insects—principally birds. Orle and blue bird, Kentucky cardinal, greenback and goldfish—all the American birds have been on his canvases. Twenty years ago he was doing South American birds. Now he does macaws, brilliant parrots, and thus exhibits the sympathy of the fullest artistic soul.

This is the manner in which Bruno

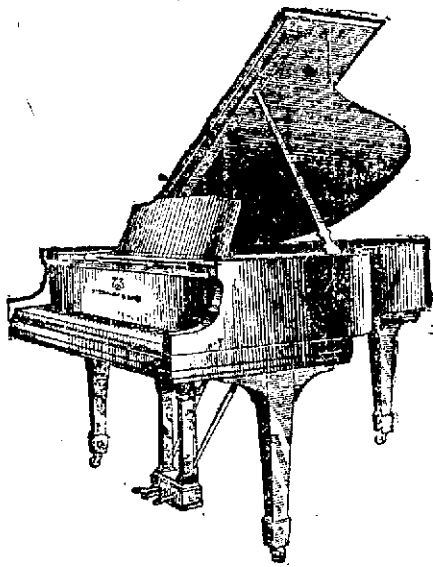

Eriz came to restrict his art to birds and bees and moths.

One Christmas morning many years ago found a little Manitowish boy with a box of paints. He was eager to make a picture and very day—what was a better subject than the golden canary singing in the sunny window. There was no very place where Bruno Eriz branched off from his own way. Many boys might have painted birds with their Christmas brushes and colors, but Bruno was determined to paint the canary while it was singing. But he could not satisfy himself. "I do not get the throat right," was his constant apology to his mother.

The next spring he commenced painting moths and honey bees. But a round splash of bronze with a bit of gold did not look like a bee to him. He wanted every fuzzy leg to be exact. Drying more colors and better brushes he persevered and continued painting birds and insects. His aim was to make beautiful pictures, but he wished them to be true to nature in the minutest particular. And so, instead of sending his paintings to an art school for criticism, he sent them to the Smithsonian museum. They would tell him whether the pictures were like actual birds.

F. H. Crittenden of the Smithsonian sent an immediate reply: "I have carefully examined your work and have shown it to members of the division of birds. They all think the paintings the finest of their sort that have ever been produced in this country. In this field you can easily eclipse anything that has been done in this country in the past."

Pajamas Feminine Night Attire

By MARIAN HALE
NEA Service Writer.

NEW YORK.—You may be up to the minute in style when you dress up and go out in your finest finery. But you're still far behind the times if you go to bed in anything but a suit of pajamas.

Thus has Dame Fashion decreed. And to execute her dictates, designers have come forth with all sorts and varieties of this masculine attire for women. They have shown what can be done for women, out of the ideas suggested by man's garb.

Manufacturers of night gowns and of petticoats may well ponder sadly upon the future of skirts when they gaze upon these creations.

For the latest 1923 edition of the pajama is not merely a sleeping garment, but is used for lounging and any time when a negligee is permissible.

Many Types

They are made with a slipover blouse and are sleeveless, or nearly so.

Pongee, bound in color and embroidered with yarn, makes the most practical and durable type, as well as the heavier wash silks and satins, and the printed crepes. These come in rich colors and combinations of color and may be trimmed or untrimmed as one prefers.

Then there is the very fluffy type, made of delicate pink, blue, or lavender crepe or satin, trimmed with the lace and French flowers and ribbons, and all the attractive decorations of the most feminine of lingerie.

But the most popular type of all consists of a pair of black satin or satin-backed crepe, with a jacket of red, green, or any bright colored silk, with a piped edge about the neck and sleeves.

Or the jacket may be of brocade satin, bound with ribbon. With this arrangement, it is possible to have two or three jackets with the same pair of dark trousers.

Embroidered, Too

One fashionable house is showing jackets of hand-made laces on a foundation of batiste or net, with a little exquisite hand embroidery thrown in for good measure, and a slash of chiffon with long floating ends.

Other luxurious models are made entirely of black lace and georgette with very wide satin girdles.

Though these suits range from one to three figures in price, there is consolation in the knowledge that no garment is more easy to make at home, and that there is no fitting to bother with.

WOMAN'S CLUB HAS MEETING ON WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Chester Soules Entertains the La Crosse Woman's Club

The La Crosse Woman's club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Chester Soules. Mrs. Earl Wheaton was the leader of the day. The program was an interesting one, consisting of music, readings and a travel talk.

Mrs. Odin J. Oyen, who has recently returned from Europe, gave an interesting account of her summer travels in Norway, France and Italy.

Miss Helen Pfleger gave two readings, "The Come Down of the Magworth Hills" and "The Moo Cow Moo." Miss Pfleger has come to La Crosse recently and is at present organizing a class in interpretation reading. Her selections given for the club were amusing and well done.

An unusual musical feature was the song given by Mrs. Frank Goetzinger. She sang "Take Me Home Again Kathleen," accompanied by an Edison Record. The effect was most pleasing and interesting.

During the business meeting it was voted to send gifts to the Dousman School for Boys at Dousman, Wis.

After the business meeting and program an informal meeting was held and refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held December 5 and will be the club's Christmas party.

BIRTHS

CHICAGO TAXICAB DRIVER, 22, VICTIM OF GLAND ROBBERY

Youth Held Up at Point of Gun, Knocked Out then Operated on

CHICAGO, Ill.—Charles Ream, 22 years old, a taxicab driver, is in a hospital a victim of a gland robbery which the attending physician says was accomplished in a most surgical manner.

Ream, who drives at night, was on his way home on foot at 2:15 a. m. Tuesday. About a block from his home in the university district a touring car with side curtains was standing at the curb. A masked man stepped out, pointed a revolver at him, robbed him of sixty cents and then pushed him into the car, at the wheel of which was another man.

In the rear seat, Ream's hands were tied behind him, he was blindfolded and gagged, and after about thirty minutes, he told physicians, he was removed from the car, struck on the head and then some liquor was poured over his face and he lost consciousness.

Still in a dazed condition he later was found wandering near South Chicago and was taken to a hospital. "It is only my opinion, but I can only suppose that he was robbed of his gland for transplanting purposes," Dr. Orlando Scott, the attending physician, said.

PAINT SPRAYING MACHINE CURB SOUGHT IN STATE

MADISON, Wis.—The state industrial commission has opened here the first hearing on proposed regulation of paint spraying machines. The hearing follows an extensive investigation by a committee of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor into the danger to the health of users of paint spraying machines. Among the witnesses at the hearing was Miss Harriet Silverman, of the workers' health bureau, New York. Miss Silverman reported that investigations by her department show that one-fourth of a grain of lead is the limit that can be breathed each day by a workman without injury. She further testified that investigation by the workers' bureau tended to show that the machines involved allow several times this amount to be breathed by their manipulators.

BRINGING UP FATHER

BLAINE PROCLAIMS THANKSGIVING DAY

Declares State Has Reasons for Thankfulness in Peace, Prosperity

MADISON, Wis.—Gov. John J. Blaine declared that America has much to be thankful for, having lived in peace and contentment during the year, in a thanksgiving proclamation issued Thursday.

"As a nation we have been favored," the governor declared. "During the past year war and pestilence, want and hate and fear, have held sway in Europe—thousands have died from famine in China, Japan has suffered an unparalleled disaster which has excited the sympathy of the entire world. We have lived in peace and comparative plenty. We have known sorrow in the loss of our president, and we are not ungrateful of the distress prevalent abroad."

"As a state we have much for which to give thanks. Our labors have been rewarded with no mean success. We have enough to meet our own needs and to share with our less fortunate brothers in our country and in other countries. In the words of our president: 'we will do well then to render thanks for the good that has come to us and show by our actions that we have become stronger, wiser and truer by the chastenings that have been imposed upon us. We will thus prepare ourselves for the part we must take in a world which forever needs the full measure of service. We have been a most favored people. We ought to be a most grateful people. We ought to be a most thankful people.'

GREAT DISCOVERIES DISTINCTIVE NOTE OF MODERN WORLD

CHICAGO.—By The Associated Press.—Discovery is the distinctive note of the intellectual life of the modern world, said Dr. Ernest DeWitt Burton, president of the University of Chicago, in addressing the Chicago Association of Commerce, adding that far more than half of the great discoveries the result of which constitute the present store of human knowledge, have been made in the last century. It is the reversal of the attitude of the ancient medieval, and even the modern Oriental world, of living by traditions and in regard for the opinions of their predecessors, and by the adoption of the spirit of discovery and research that have produced the steamship, the locomotive, the aeroplane, the telephone, and the telephone, "and all those other things tangible and intangible, that make our world different from the dark ages of medievalism," he declared.

NORMAL STUDENTS OBSERVE NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

Prof. L. K. Adkins Has Charge of Arranging Programs for Local School

In observance of National Education Week an elaborate series of programs have been arranged for the students of the La Crosse Normal school. The programs have been outlined by Prof. L. K. Adkins who has charge of the observance of the week. On Tuesday three students gave seven minute talks. They were "Physical Education," Laura Thibadeau; "America's Duty to the Uneducated," Lyle Duty; and "Help Immigrants and Aliens to Become Citizens," Amy Zeigweid.

A program consisting of five speakers will be given at the regular assembly hour today. On next Tuesday, Prof. Joseph Leeder will have charge of the program and will introduce the subject music in the schools.

Miss Laura Thibadeau, speaking on "Physical Education," said in part:

"Physical education is that which regards a man's motor activities as a means of influencing for good the entire individual in mind and character as well as in body. It employs the word 'physical' to denote the means and not the end. The term is also used to include the entire personal hygiene of childhood and youth."

"It is unfortunate that the public thinks of physical education as having to do primarily with formal calisthenics and gymnastics. The student of physical education is being trained in progressive institutions today along other lines than the 'cavalry order' and with material more related to living than 'giant swings' and 'waltz series'. The educational administrator is asking for a more functional program and a less stereotyped teacher."

According to the biologic or physiologic view the body is a machine with which man does his work in the world. Care and training are requisite in order that it may be perfect in all its parts at maturity and handle skillfully and economically."

The task of the school through physical education is fourfold:

1.—To conserve the health of the individual pupil and the group.

2.—To give instruction in the essentials of personal, domestic and public hygiene.

3.—To provide systematic and progressive physical training throughout all but the earlier years. There is still a confusion of ideas, even among men who have made a professional study of the subject and who occupy conspicuous positions of leadership. Play, games, athletic sports and the various forms of dancing, although their value can hardly be exaggerated, are no more to take the place of formal gymnastics than are the popular magazine, the picture show, and the public library to serve as substitutes for the orderly discipline of the school and colleges. There are drooping heads and shoulders, bowed backs, and flat chests which must be made to yield carefully chosen corrective exercises. The rudiments of neuro-muscular control must be acquired through frequent practice of varied forms of movements graded according to difficulty and advancing from the simple to the complex.

4.—To organize and supervise the activities of the playground and the athletic field. Physical directors make a big mistake by putting all their time on one school team and neglecting the majority. We should have mass athletics and that is a lot for all the people. When we do that it leads away from professionalism and that is the biggest step in athletics at the present time.

Individual Work

The object of having supervisors on the athletic field and the playground is to see that each individual gets a chance to play and of preventing a few from usurping facilities that all should enjoy. Freedom for self-expression and self-control, subject only to the rules of the game and the dictates of true sportsmanship are the very essence of play. Social and moral training are chief among its benefits and the teachers' business is to suggest and lead, not to dictate and compel.

Lyle Duty gave the following talk on "America's Duty Toward the Uneducated":

"The practicability of free education has always been a matter of much concern in the United States, and there are still those skeptics who believe that the returns considering the money invested, are wholly inadequate. But in the brief history of the intelligent person steps America's remarkable financial and economic success in a period of less than one hundred and fifty years is a decided proof of the influence of our educational system."

Neglecting Education

"And yet with this wonderful system of free education for its citizens, America is sadly neglecting the education of the uneducated. The uneducated workmen, the wage earner and the immigrant are all included when one says America is one of the greatest nations in the world populated with over 100,000,000 people and governed by a democratic system."

That means that every adult citizen of these 100,000,000 people has a voice in the government. And yet, thousands of these know little or nothing of the duties of citizenship. America is responsible to these uneducated and it is her duty to educate them as citizens."

A comparatively young idea in education is vocational schools, which are in the earliest stage of development in all the most important cities of the United States, and whose purpose is to fit an individual to pursue effectively a recognized trade or profession. There are many taxpayers adverse to the idea because they are unable to realize any effective results from the training.

As well as showing the invaluable economic need of vocational training, this statement also points out the deficiency of America in providing adequate education of that sort. Vocational education is essential and must be developed so as to educate our American youths who are unable to secure the advantages of high school or college.

There are other kinds of education for adults which have been in a way successful. After the war America immediately took on the task of rehabilitation for the returned soldiers. And why? Because army life demonstrated more clearly than it ever has been demonstrated before, that the man who has received higher education, whether it be general or specific, possesses an enormous advantage over his less well trained fellows in the race for leadership. A great majority of officers are the new army of the United States are college men, either former students or graduates.

Vocational Schools

"But of all these types of adult education the vocational school is certain to do the most good. However, it is impossible for these schools to come in contact with all the uneducated people in the United States. What then shall be done concerning those affected by no educational system."

"At a recent meeting of the war department at Washington it was decided that training for citizenship was the most pressing problem before the nation today. The underlying cause for particular attention to this problem in America lies in the fact that our population is so heterogeneous and that the immigration during the past thirty years does not assimilate so readily as that which came prior to 1890. According to these facts the government should seek first to create a citizenship of every adult man and woman which will be morally, mentally and physically fit to meet the duties of citizenship which are even greater in peace than in war. It will be generally conceded that the correct solution of the problems of preparedness and national defense is a people morally alert, morally upright and physically fit. And that only from a just solution of the educational, industrial and social problems of the day will we grow to be a united nation sound in head, heart and hand."

"The instruction in the civic aspects of citizenship should be conducted by means for forum discussions to be held in the evenings and in places suitable for the purpose. The material for this civic instruction should be chosen with a view of achieving ends rather than logical completion of subject matter. To handle this matter systematically there should be appointed a national council on citizenship to prepare or cause to be prepared tests in terms of behavior and tests in terms of judgments and decisions for the guidance of the various agencies for citizenship training."

"This plan for citizenship training for adults in co-operation with vocational training for the youths will undoubtedly greatly reduce the percentage of the uneducated citizens of America."

SPEAKER GIVES INSIDE FACTS OF COAL INDUSTRY

George Cushing Talks at Noon
Luncheon of Chamber on Wednesday

EXPERT ROUTES THEORY OF DIMINISHING COAL SUPPLY

Ten Thousand Years Required to Finish Supply

One of the best speakers heard for some time at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon addressed the members Wednesday noon, when George H. Cushing of Washington, D. C., spoke on "Diminishing Coal Supply." Mr. Cushing, who has been a leading figure in the present day situation of the coal industry, said that he is very well informed on the coal situation of the country.

Mr. Cushing is at present the editor of "Cushing's Survey" and was formerly managing director of the American Wholesale Coal Dealers' Association and editor of "Black Diamond." For over thirty years he has been in different branches of the coal business and knows the actual conditions of the country, past, present and future.

In opening his talk, Mr. Cushing stated that perhaps some might expect him to lay down a golden rule by which they would know when to buy their coal and when to sell. He answered some of the other perplexing coal problems. Mr. Cushing did not attempt to do anything like this but showed why prices are high and many of the difficulties encountered in the coal industry.

Average Price Given
If he could strike an average of the price of coal per ton as it moves from the mines, Mr. Cushing believes it would vary between $1.50 and $1.75 for 1923. The average three years ago would have been between $1.10 and $1.20. The estimated production of coal per ton in 1922, is about 11,000,000 tons. In 1920, it was almost identical. At present, the coal in the neighborhood of 60,000,000 tons are being placed in storage while in 1920, the average was practically the same. However, a comparison with the prices of 1920 shows that coal is $2.00 per ton higher.

In 1920, the coal dealer could supply the consumer with coal 24 or 48 hours after the order was placed. Now, the dealer can supply coal 24, 36, or 48 hours before it is ordered. This difference of about 72 hours in supplying coal has raised prices $2.00 a ton. In other words, when coal can be had 24 hours ahead of the need, there will be no high prices but when it cannot be supplied for 36 hours after it is ordered, the dealer sets the price and the consumer must pay.

The suggestion of some, that prices should be fixed from month to month or from week to week, would mean the end of competition.

Mr. Cushing cited an incident which occurred some time ago. The editor of the "World's Work" sent a reporter to the coal fields to write an article under the head, "Who Owns the Bituminous Industry?" After a three months investigation, the reporter returned with the statement that "Nobody owns the coal industry."

There are three groups who are trying to manage the industry, according to Mr. Cushing. The first of these are the Bituminous men numbering about 10,000 and who have 400,000 stockholders and directors behind them. The second group is the Miner's Union who are active in thirteen out of thirty-five districts of the country. The third is a group of barons at Washington who are clamoring for their chance to manage the industry.

Ancestors Here Early

Some of Mr. Cushing's ancestors were among the first to come to this country, the first ones arriving in 1638. Some member of this family has participated in almost every war fought by this country. Out of respect for them and the part they have played in this country's history, some time for deliberation was required before Mr. Cushing could issue a statement regarding the views of the family. The statement in brief, means that in order to have a government that is really representative, the government must stick to its job of administering justice to the people and let them take care of their own business and see that they compete for competition and a republic must be in hand, just as a monarch and autocracy do. All obstacles must be removed before success can be reached in the coal industry.

One of the biggest problems in getting the coal through on time or getting it through at all. During the past thirty years, Mr. Cushing declares, there has been no inability to flood the market. In the past seven years there has been trouble in the transportation while during the past five and a half years the trouble has been a combination of transportation and railroad time limits. The mines control 70 percent of the output and are claiming seventy-two cents out of every dollar paid for a ton of coal leaving practically nothing for the cost of production, equipment, labor and other operating expenses.

The constitution of the United Mine Workers of America was changed in 1912 to include two statements. The first was "That the Miner's Union should have a complete monopoly on all mine labor." The second was "That it should have the full social value of a ton of coal." The social value of a ton of coal was later interpreted to mean the delivered price less only the freight rates.

Mr. Cushing gave what he termed "a new version of an old story" when he cited the already famous Herrin murder case. A man owned some land which contained coal under a very small layer of ground. The man hired some union laborers during the strike to remove the top layer of dirt with steam shovels. The coal was then removed with the steam shovels just as rock would be quarried. This action aroused the strikers who shot down the twenty-four union steam-shovelers.

Growth of Industry

In 1807, 20,000 tons of coal were extracted from the earth in this country. In 1923 600,000,000 tons of coal have been removed. This is but one-half of one per cent of the amount America had in the ground in the beginning. At this rate, 10,000 years will be required to consume all of the country's coal. Mr. Cushing expressed no personal interest what because of the coal supply after the 10,000 years were up.

A discussion in regard to the legislation of the coal industry followed. Mr. Cushing explained that the United States Coal Commission, in session Sept. 22, recommended that the next Congress pass a bill by which no man may be allowed to open a coal mine without first receiving a certificate from the Interstate Commerce Commission, showing that the mine would be a public necessity and convenience. The Commission also recommends that the country be divided into thirty-five major local corporations and that the lines between be drawn exact and freight rates raised that coal could only be sold out of the district at prohibitive prices.

Some of the decisions handed down by the Commission were revealed by Mr. Cushing. In Virginia, the Pocahontas coal company, with offices in New York, intended to open a new mine. The Virginia railroad was to extend their line one and a fourth miles to the mine and all preparations were made. The mine to be opened contained 25,000 acres. However, the Commission handed down a decision forbidding the railroad to extend their lines because they believed that there were too many mines already in operation and that the proposed mine was not a public necessity.

Another decision made by the Commission in reference to three mines in and about the state of Ohio, was cited by the speaker. Three mines form a crescent and all mines were after the same market. Through the decision handed down, the freight rates from one end of the crescent were lowered, the rates from the center mine remained the same and those from the further mine were raised, the theory being that the closest mine has the right to the market.

Another case, right to our own territory, was also given. The struggle between the southern coal companies and the dock companies around the lakes, for the right to the markets in this vicinity has given us competition, lacking in many other places. The Commission fixed the rates from Mason City, Ia. north the same as before for the coal coming from the southern mines. Hearing of this, the dock companies at Duluth desired similar action which was refused, the commission claiming that the market if any, for the dock companies was north and west of St. Paul.

The plan to make coal mining a public utility was also scorned by Mr. Cushing who pointed out the further monopoly evils which might arise from such action.

RADIO FANS, IF YOU HEAR KNIGHT WRITE TO OMAHA

Mail Service Trying Out One-man Airplane Wireless Telephone

OMAHA, Neb.—Testing new device to permit air mail pilots to cooperate in communication with the ground while winging over the stretches over the transcontinental air mail lanes. Pilot Jack Knight will Thursday go aloft and every ten minutes repeat a special little speech while ground stations listen in.

Working on a 220 metre wave length, Knight will cruise between Omaha and North Platte and talk into his apparatus at regular intervals, giving a prepared message each time.

The trial was to have taken place Wednesday but defective microphones delayed the test.

Postal authorities have requested all who hear Knight to communicate with the Omaha mail station to determine the distance at which the messages broadcast from the air can be heard.

SAVES MURDERED MAN FROM BURIAL IN POTTER'S FIELD

MADISON.—The body of Ernest Carson, homeless negro laborer, was saved from burial in Potter's field Wednesday through a campaign launched by Governor John J. Blaine. Carson was shot and killed several days ago by another negro, who was later arrested and is now in the state prison.

Flowers came from Madison florists; burial services were held at the Mount Zion Baptist church and burial was in Forest Hill cemetery.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The regular business assembly at the La Crosse High school Wednesday was given over to the Junior Ex. speakers. Miss Edith Johnson took charge of the first assembly and put the program on very nicely as did Mayor Katz, who presided in the second.

Mr. Wiley made an announcement about the football game coming Saturday, between the Logan school team and the La Crosse team. The admission is twenty-five cents and the proceeds of the game are to be used for purchasing equipment for the Logan football team next year.

Herbert Ristow, representing the Students-Teachers council, then gave an announcement to the effect that a new ink machine is to be established in the main hall on twenty days trial. The proceeds for the Junior Ex. are chosen by the process of elimination in each English class, one boy and one girl being chosen. By the process the speaker is narrowed down to four boys and four girls who speak in the assembly for final honors.

The other speakers were Winifred Dalk and Alyce Peterson who talked on "Pleasure." In the second assembly Martin Peters, who took the late Chief Justice John Marshall as his subject, and Harold Longman, who spoke on Luther Burbank, were tied for first place. Bernard Ritter talked on Dr. Edward Martin Peters, told of John Marshall as a boy, brought up in the roughest of circumstances and who turned out to be one of the greatest lawyers that America has ever produced.

Norma Talmadge in 'Ashes of Vengeance' At the Majestic theatre all this week.

MOVIES

"ASHES OF VENGEANCE"
One of the very thrilling scenes in "Ashes of Vengeance" starring Norma Talmadge and now being presented at the Majestic theatre, is an attack of Norma Talmadge and Little Jeannette Carpenter by a wolf—and a wild one, at that. It falls to the lot of Conway Tearle to conquer this beast, a feat which he accomplished by casting a cloak over the wolf's head, then strangling it.

"Ashes of Vengeance" is a romance of France in the days of Charles IX. The production takes rank with the masterpieces of the screen. Not less than twenty distinguished players in addition to those mentioned, have principal roles. Forty-eight massive sets, including one 330 feet long, reproducing the Louvre Palace ballroom, and another showing a whole quarter of the Paris of 1572, were built for the production.

CASINO TODAY
In "Six Days," the new Goldwyn photoplay now at the Casino theatre, Elinor Glyn, author of the sensational novel, "Three Weeks," tells one of her most original and colorful stories. It is a bold drama, swift action, with characters all drawn in bold relief. There are thrilling episodes and spectacular events in this screen story. The story is too complicated to be told here in detail and such a telling would lessen the picturegoers' pleasure in seeing it unreeled. Corinne Griffith, one of the popular screen stars of the day, is seen at her best as an American girl. Frank Mayo is featured along with Miss Griffith in the role of the lover.

"WHERE NORTH BEGINS"
One of the finest pictures that ever came to town opened yesterday at the Rivoli theatre, where it will command attention for the balance of the week. This is "Where the North Begins," a story of the north woods, featuring the marvelous trained dog, Rintintin, who is so clever that one feels a man's brain must be lodged in his skull.

The setting in the far north is a fitting background for the tense drama unfolded before the manifold of mortal living and struggling in one of the outposts and fringes of civilization, a remote Hudson Bay trading post.

CASINO SUNDAY
Marion Davies will have a role entirely different from anything in which she has heretofore appeared and one exactly suited to her appealing personality when she appears as Patricia O'Day in "Little Old New York."

JAPANESE PRESS DOESN'T LIKE U. S. LAND-LAW RULING

Protest Supreme Court Decision Upholding Alleged Race Discrimination

TOKIO.—By The Associated Press. Comment on the decision of the United States supreme court sustaining the alien land laws of California and Washington is contained in Wednesday editions of some of the leading Japanese newspapers.

Regret is expressed at what one newspaper terms evidence of "racial discrimination which is inconsistent with the humanity, justice and benevolence to which the American government and people traditionally are pledged."

Another daily states "if the agitators' final object is not to drive out all Japanese from America the anti-alien land laws should be modified." The Kokumin advoce the government to redouble its efforts to settle the immigration question because, the newspaper asserts, "Japanese friendship will never be permanently cemented until the spirit of discrimination has been eliminated."

CAR IS ROBBED OF MANY PARTS AFTER COLLISION

WINONA, Minn.—Winona police were today seeking to trace the person or persons who stripped the automobile of Alfred H. Bohri, 352 East Third street, of all available equipment, after it had been left at the side of a road five miles south of Dodge Wis., following a collision Sunday night.

When a garage man arrived at the scene to tow in the damaged car, he reported that the tires had been taken from the wheels, and extra tire had been removed from the carrier, the cushions were missing, the battery and wires were gone, the globes had been smashed in, the headlights and the lenses removed and other parts were missing.

Everything which could possibly be removed in the way of equipment was taken, police were told. The machine was a Buick touring model. One of the wheels was broken in the collision, while some other damage was done. The car which collided with Mr. Bohri's machine, said to have been from Dodge, was also damaged, but it was removed by a garage man shortly after the accident.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, tight tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with cough and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. A drug-gist can supply you with 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membrane that lines the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.
Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norwegian pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.
There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK-Stock prices continued their movement to higher ground at the opening of Thursday's market in response to favorable foreign and domestic news developments. Tide-water Oil jumped three points but most of the initial gains were of a fractional nature with the demand spread over all sections of the list. Tide-water Oil extended its gain to four points and the Royal Dutch to 1 1/2. A new 1923 high, while gains of a point or more were recorded by the Penn-American, Iron Products and many others. There were a few weak spots, notably Calumet and Arizona and General Electric. Foreign exchanges opened slightly lower. While the general market showed considerable strength during the morning, some of the pivotal shares, including United States Steel, Baldwin and Studebaker, failed to make much progress. Heavy short covering took place in the oil issues, Tide-water extending its early gain to 4 1/2 points. Sells Oil, which had been down several points, also showed strength. Representative railroad shares such as Atchafalaya, New York Central and Chicago and North-Western also took a prominent part in the upswing. New high records for the year were established by Big Four at 115, Kresge at 290, Consolidated at 182 1/2 and American Chemical at 85. Top prices in most of these and other issues were shaded by a wave of profit-taking and bear selling which came in before noon. Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent. The closing was firm. Davidson Chemical continued its erratic movement in the afternoon, dropping from 6 1/2 to 5 1/2, and ending at 6 1/2. Max-well Motors, A. Houston Oil and United Alcohol were conspicuously strong. Sales approximated 1,600,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.-Although wheat showed some declines during initial transactions Thursday, the market soon recovered. Reports from the Pacific Coast and lower quotations at Liverpool were bearish factors at the outset. Good buying support, however, developed, and the market contended that wheat had intrinsic values at current prices. The opening, which ranged from a low of 107 1/2 to a high of 108 1/2, was followed by a rally all around to slightly above Wednesday's level. Owing more or less to strength in the stock market, a subsequent decided advance in wheat values took place, with considerable buying ascribed to speculators, who recently have been bearish. The close was firm, 1/2 to 1 1/2 net higher, to 108 1/2 to 109 1/2 and May 108 1/2 to 109 1/2. Predictions of rain or snow gave firmness to corn and oats. After a quiet start, the market sympathized with what wheat was doing. Corn closed firm 1/2 to 1/2 net higher, May 73 1/2 to 74 1/2. Oats started at the decline to a shade advance. May 44 1/2 to 45 1/2. Provisions were easy in line with the hog market.

PARENTS-TEACHERS DOING GREAT WORK AIDING THE SCHOOLS

Accomplishments of Various Organizations in City are Reviewed

That the Parent-Teachers' Association of La Crosse will go into history as a valuable aid in securing better equipment and increased educational advantages for the youth of this community was the declaration of a citizen of La Crosse in conversation with a teacher recently.

Every school in the city of La Crosse has a more or less definite, organized Parent-Teachers' Association or Mothers' Club. The most recently organized is the Logan Junior High School Association, which made its first bow to the public last year.

The first to be organized in La Crosse was that of the Washburn school, which began its existence in 1913. In the last ten years, this group, now varying in attendance from 80 to 600, has furnished over one thousand dollars' worth of pictures for the decoration of the Washburn building. This money has been raised by annual coffees.

At Washburn School

The assembly hall of the Washburn building contains a beautiful patriotic group, the Capitol at Washington, D. C., and a picture of Washington and one of Lincoln. These are hand-colored copies of the best pictures obtainable. There is also a copy of the painting, "The Education of the Book," by John Alexander and four hand-colored pictures of the interior of the Congressional Library at Washington, D. C. This room has been pronounced to contain one of the finest collections of pictures in any school room of the state.

The Hogan School Parent-Teachers' Association co-operated with the City Council and the Board of Education in converting the block of land north of the school into a playground center second to none in the city.

The Association also assisted in raising funds for placing a fine framed picture in each room of the school, and for erecting two toboggan slides on the school grounds. Further improvements are in contemplation.

Lincoln Memorial

The Lincoln Memorial Committee, appointed by President D. S. Greig of the Lincoln School Association is making gratifying progress in raising funds for a bronze bust of Abraham Lincoln to be placed in the corridor of the new Lincoln School now being erected at the corner of Ninth and Division streets. Plans will soon be under way for the erection on the school grounds of an adequate shelter for bicycles belonging to Lincoln School pupils.

The Jefferson Mothers' Club is now saving money for a phonograph and records for the kindergarten of the Jefferson School. The Roosevelt Association is saving for pictures for the new building. The Hamilton group plans to buy books for the school library.

The Washington School Association, organized four years ago, has accomplished much. The association realized the need of proper playground equipment. A committee was appointed to investigate the matter with the result that the equipment was purchased the following year. Two years ago, about $40 worth of disks was purchased. The first meeting of this year will be held Wednesday Nov. 21.

Central High school has two active groups, the Parent-Teacher's Association and the Mother's Club. Both of these organizations are at present bending their energies toward raising money to help pay for the recent purchase of uniforms for the high school band. Last year the Mother's Club assisted in furnishing Room 101 as a comfortable social and rest room for the girls of the high school.

OPERETTA AT HIGH SCHOOL TO BE BIG EVENT

Featuring a snappy chorus and a variety of catchy tunes, the operetta "On Plymouth Rock" which is to be given in the High school auditorium November 27 at 8:15 will probably turn out to be one of the most popular numbers presented at the high school this year. In the assembly Wednesday the Glee clubs gave a few of their songs and they proved to be very attractive and were well received by the students.

That this operetta will be worth while is evidenced by the fact that all the costumes for the girls are brand new, being purchased by Mrs. Whelpley while she was in Chicago a few weeks ago. The men's costumes are being rented from a costume company outside of the city and they will be here in time for the Charivari where the chorus of matrons and maidens will sing.

Mrs. Whelpley was very fortunate in securing the services of Miss Murray for the dramatic work. Miss Murray is well known as being a very able dramatic coach and coupled with the ability of Mrs. Whelpley the operetta is bound to be a success.

Posters are being displayed in the downtown districts, picturing the quaint costumes and costumes of early days, which one will see pictured in the operetta. Much of this Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lory" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "work up" the spirits. 15c and 35c.

BROWN COUNTY PLANS PROGRAM FOR BOYS', GIRLS' CLUBS

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Brown county is making an early start in laying plans for its 1924 boys' and girls' club activities. Local club leaders, including Mrs. L. D. Hopkins, county club leaders of boys and girls, are co-operating with Mildred Hagerty, of the home economics department of the state agricultural college, in planning the work which is to be carried on with the juniors in the county. Hot lunches in the rural schools, bread baking and canning club projects are slated as part of the girls' work, while the boys will devote their attention primarily to livestock, although other lines of endeavor never fail to attract many of the youngsters.

WELL, THIS SHOULD HELP—PLENTY OF TURKEY, SAYS U. S.

WASHINGTON.—The tradition of Turkey as the piece de resistance on the Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner table is in little danger this year as far as the supply is concerned. Department of agriculture reports made public Thursday show that in addition to cold storage stocks of five million pounds carried over from last year the new crop is exceptionally heavy in Texas, and large in Maryland and Virginia, while turkeys are being raised in considerable numbers for the first time in many northern sections.

POPULAR EDUCATION IS HELD BASIS OF DEMOCRACY IN U. S.

URBANA, Ill.—The very basis of American democracy is popular education, Dr. David Kinley, president of the University of Illinois, said in an educational week statement. "A government like ours cannot long endure unless its citizens are educated. As a people we are bound to see that the coming generation is properly educated for the discharge of their duties as citizens. We furnish free schools; we must insist on attendance. The greatest need in our educational system today is a larger supply of properly qualified teachers."

ENLISTED STRENGTH OF NATIONAL GUARD IN STATE GROWS

MADISON, Wis.—An increase of approximately 200 in the enlisted strength of the Wisconsin National Guards this fall is reported by Adjutant General Ralph M. Immell. This increase is in the face of a usual decline in the fall and winter months in total enlistments. The guard numbers approximately 5,000. Last fall, the guard enlistments decreased approximately 1,000 it is said. Although there have been decreases in some companies, new enlistments have offset the decreases and created a gain according to General Immell.

Week November 23 through December 1 is the time.

Hold one of these days open for something big at the Majestic.
